Criterion F: Feedback from client

1) Are you satisfied with the finished product?

I am very satisfied with the finished product. I appreciate the fact that I was consistently asked about my preferences for the project as it made me feel like I was more a part of building it.

2) What characteristics of the website do you like?

I really like the Middle Eastern title backgrounds, I feel like they add a lot of culture and feeling to the website. I also really like the small details, like the fading to top button and the link underline effect. Overall, I think the website sends a very welcoming and modern vibe.

3) Are there any changes you would like made to the functionality or design?

For the most part I think the website looks amazing. I think that it would be nice if there could be a few more images of the class. Additionally, I think if the titles were in a serif font they might match the logo a bit better.

4) Did I meet your requirements / specific performance criteria?

- Website that is accessible online

Yes, the website is easily accessible online. I understand that a custom domain name is required to make the website completely accessible and intend to get one.

- Calendar functionality for events

There is great calendar functionality for all the events.

- File storage functionality

Yes, there is file storage functionality.

- Contact page that provides contact details and a contact form

Yes, there is a contact page with the appropriate contact details that I gave and a contact form that appears functional. I understand that the contact form cannot function without a custom domain name.

- Pages that contain course information in an accessible manner

All the pages contain the course information in an accessible manner.

- A cohesive and aesthetically pleasing design and colour palette

The layout is very cohesive and aesthetically pleasing and so is the colour palette. I really like the Middle Eastern design theme.
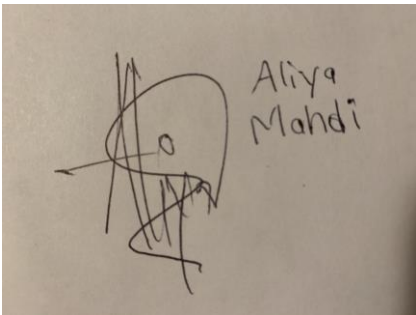

- Useful links to other websites that function properly

Yes, there are useful links to other websites that function as needed.

5) Does the website show what you intended?

The website shows all the information that I intended to be available on it and can do that while being interactive and accessible. I think that the website will be very useful to me and is completely in line with how I intended it to be available.
